Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrup, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any drugist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle, and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, soreness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. HOW THE REAL ESTATE OF THE PACIFIC HAS BEEN DIVIDED

Map showing the Versailles disposition of Pacific Islands of vital importance to the United States.

Hope for the United States gaining full possible position in the Pacific is just being over the Island of Yap, an important cable base in the Pacific, rests in the International Communications Conference at its next session. Only those who have studied the problem of Pacific Ocean strategy closely realize the value of this tiny islet to the United States. That the Versailles treaty put this country in an almost impossible position in the Pacific just is being realized.

Washington's Funeral Story As Printed In Old N. Y. Newspaper

Joplin, Mo.—A newspaper account of the funeral of George Washington was uncovered here recently by Mrs. E. H. Coats of this city when she found a copy of an old New York newspaper, January 4, 1800, in which the story of the funeral was printed. The paper was discovered in an old trunk containing family bedclothes and gives the following description of the funeral:

"In the long and lofty Portico where off the hero walked in all his glory, now lay the shrouded corpse. The countenance still composed and serene, seemed to depress, the dignity of the spirit, which lately dwelt in that lifeless form. There those who paid the last honors to the benefactor of his country, took an impressive-farewell view.

"On the ornament of the head of the coffin was inscribed 'Surge de Jutendum'—about the middle of the coffin, 'Gloria Deo'—and the silver plate, 'General George Washington. Departed this life on the 14th of December, 1799.'

"Between 3 and 4 o'clock the sound of artillery from a vessel in the river, firing minute guns, awake afresh our solemn sorrow—the body was removed—a band of music with mournful melted the soul into all the tenderness of woe.

Then follows a long descriptive of the procession, in which Washington's horse with his saddle holsters and pistols followed the casket which was mounted on an artillery wagon. Continuing the article says:

"When the procession had arrived at the bottom of the elevated lawn, on the bank of the Potomac, where the family vault is placed, the cavalry halted, the infantry marched toward the Mount and formed then lines—the clergy, the Masonic brothers and the citizens, descended to the vault and the funeral of the church was performed. The firing was repeated from the vessel in the river and the sounds echoed from the woods and hills around.

"Three general discharges by the infantry—the cavalry and 11 pieces of artillery which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the vault, paid the last tribute to the entombed commander-in-chief of the armies of the United States and the departed hero. The sun was now setting. Alas! The sun of glory was set forever. No—the name of Washington—the American president and general—will triumph over death! The unclouded brightness of his glory will illuminate the future ages."

IRISH FILM HERE MARCH 6

The Irish picture "Willy Reilly and His Colleen Bawn," also the lecture "Ireland's Contribution to the World" by Rev. Norman Thomas, which was scheduled at the Park theatre yesterday has been postponed for two weeks, March 6. The postponement was caused by the break down in the lighting system.

All who hold tickets are requested to retain them for the later date, as the picture will positively be shown, and exchanging would cause great confusion. It was probably a fortunate accident as far as the Irish Relief fund is concerned for the severe storm would probably have hurt the attendance to a considerable extent. March 6 is the first date the pictures will be available.

UNLOADS "RAZZ" ON 'MALE' WOMAN

Zion City, Ill.—"Male" women have no place in Zion, headquarters of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer of the followers of the late John Alexander Dowle, made this plain recently when he declared that he was utterly opposed to women wearing 'bristles', suspenders, felt hats or other male garb, and even more strongly opposed to women occupying men's places.

"All of this woman business is just a sign of the times," said Voliva. "I am not afraid of any male woman in this country, and I will give them hell."

JEALOUSY AND LOVE.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For two years I have been going about with a man three years my senior. During that time we have had numerous arguments concerning jealousy, and I say where there is jealousy there is no true love, and he says where there is no jealousy there is no love. We have decided to settle our dispute by your opinion.

MADELINE M.
Jealousy doesn't prove a thing about the presence or absence of love. It only goes to show certain things about the person who is jealous. It can be present in a heart that is incapable of love and sometimes accompanies a great storm of feeling. But it indicates selfishness, suspicion, a sense of possession and a lack of generosity to the beloved. In the highest, finest type of love—the ideal matter for which we all long—there is something like the perfect love that casts out fear. And there is no room for jealousy in the heart that loves its mate—instead of merely loving love and itself.

Old Washington Tree Is Dedicated

Bath, Pa.—Dedication here today of the celebrated horse chestnut tree to its place in the tree Hall of Fame created by the American Forestry Association brings out a hitherto unpublished letter by James Russell Lowell, the poet, whose natal day is the same as General Washington's.

The tree was taken from Mount Vernon by Washington and sent to one of his aides in the Revolutionary war, General Brown who planted it in the lawn before his home here.

Asa K. McIlhenny of Bath nominated the celebrated old tree for the Hall of Fame. It is twenty-seven feet and a half in circumference at the base and six feet from the ground it has a girth of seventeen feet.

Nominating the tree Mr. McIlhenny sent in the letter from Lowell, written thirty years ago, just four months before the noted poet died. It expresses his sympathy with the celebration of Arbor Day and his love of nature. It was written on the occasion of the planting of a tree for Lowell, by the school children of Bath on his birthday, Feb. 22, 1891, and follows:

"I sympathize warmly with the gracious object for the furtherance of which Arbor Day was instituted. I have planted many trees, and every summer they repay me with an abundant gratitude. There is not a leaf on them but whispers benediction. I often think of the Scottish farmer's words quoted by Scott: 'Beware stick in a tree, Jock, 'twill be grow in' while we're sleeping'. In my childhood I put a nut into the earth, from which sprang a Horsechestnut tree, whose trunk has now a girth of eight feet, and sustains a vast dome of verdure, the haunt of birds and bees and of thoughts as cheery as they. In planting a tree we lay the foundation of a structure of which the seasons (without care of ours) shall be the builders and which shall be a joy to others when we are gone.

"I need not say how great a pleasure it is to be that my young friends should decorate my memory with a tree of their planting. I wish I could be with them to throw the first shovelful of earth upon its roots."
